ALD On the Web

www.americanlibrarydirectory.com

Now searching the American Library Directory (ALD) is even easier with ALD On the Web. Including all the information of the print version, ALD On the Web is a way to bring your library search capabilities to a whole new level. Continuously updated, this new online edition lets you combine more than 40 search categories to meet the most complex library research needs, or download and create your own address files.

With ALD On the Web you can also:

- Locate libraries, colleagues and qualified prospects with ease
- Search for libraries with special collections or holdings
- Identify all libraries that meet certain criteria with a single search

ALD On the Web allows you to tailor your subscription to fit your searching needs with several different levels of paid subscriptions. For subscription pricing and information, contact Lauri Rimler at (800) 409-4929, and press 1 at the prompt.
