The NEW OPL Sourcebook

Revised and Expanded Edition of Popular Handbook Offers
Management Guidance and Resources for Solo and Small Libraries

March 13, 2006, Medford, New Jersey—Information Today, Inc. has announced the publication of The New OPL Sourcebook: A Guide for Solo and Small Libraries by Judith A. Siess.

This updated and expanded edition of the essential guide for small and one-person libraries (OPLs) covers virtually every key management topic of interest to OPLs. In addition to offering a wealth of practical tips, strategies, and case studies, author Siess takes an international perspective that reflects the growing number of OPLs worldwide. The book's in-depth directory section lists important organizations, publications, vendors and suppliers, discussion lists, and Web sites.

In highly recommending the previous edition for all librarians, Library Journal said the book "offers two types of resources for the one-person library: effective approaches to management issues and categorized lists of relevant resources. Management chapters contain pearls of wisdom for all libraries, not just those that are small."

Part 1 of The New OPL Sourcebook includes the following chapters:

- What Is an OPL?
- Management: General Concepts
- Time Management, Planning, and Prioritization
- Financial Matters
- Communication, Marketing, and Advocacy
- Along the Information Superhighway: The OPL and Technology
- Other Issues: Education, Downsizing and Outsourcing, and Knowledge Management
- The Future of One-Person Librarianship

Part 2 of the book comprises an extensive, annotated directory of expert information resources in the areas of business and management, computers and the Web, government, journalism and news, literature and the arts, law and copyright, health and medicine, science and engineering, social sciences and much more. The in-depth coverage of library-specific resources will be of particular value to OPLs and other librarians.

About the Author

Judith A. Siess, President of Information Bridges International, Inc., is considered one of the world's foremost experts on one-person librarianship. She is a popular international speaker and the author of numerous books and articles for library industry publications such as American Libraries and Searcher magazine. For eight years she was editor and publisher of the monthly newsletter, The One-Person Library, which evolved into her blog, OPL Plus (<http://opls.blogspot.com>) in 2006. An active member of the Special Libraries Association, she is proud to have been the first chair of SLA's SOLO Librarian's division—currently the largest SLA division with nearly 1,000 members.
